FIVE Cs OF CREDIT ASSESSMENT

C	Score	Weight	Rationale
Character	95	25%	Promoter background rated 'Good' with 'Low' risk level, no criminal cases, wilful defaulter status, or SFIO investigation. No 'director disqualified', 'filing defaults', or 'charge satisfaction pending' reported by MCA. No audit qualification, going concern issues, NPA mentions, or related party concerns (all false).
Capacity	90	30%	Exceptional approximate DSCR of 88.8x, coupled with robust operating cash flow of 4351 crores. Company news highlights strong financial performance with Total Revenue $19.28 Billion, Operating Profit $4.07 Billion (21.12% margin), and EBITDA $5.07 Billion, alongside raised FY25 revenue guidance of 4.5-5%.
Capital	85	20%	Strong current ratio of 2.27x and substantial total assets of 17419 crores. The exceptionally high DSCR of 88.8x suggests minimal reliance on external debt and strong internal accruals. Promoters exhibited confidence by opting out of the ₹18,000 crore share buyback, indicating robust internal capital.

🔒 Collateral	88	15%	Substantial total assets of 17419 crores provide strong backing. There are no reported NPA mentions or pending charge satisfactions, indicating a clean record regarding asset encumbrances. The company's overall financial strength ensures ample security coverage.
🌍 Conditions	90	10%	Infosys operates in the robust and growing IT services sector, characterized by high demand for digital transformation. The company's 'Positive' news sentiment and raised FY25 revenue guidance (4.5-5%) indicate strong market demand and favorable operating conditions, with no adverse macro or regulatory signals.

SECONDARY RESEARCH INTELLIGENCE

Company News: Infosys Ltd demonstrated robust financial health in FY25, reporting significant revenue, net income, and operating profits. The company also raised its FY25 revenue guidance, indicating a positive outlook for continued growth.

Promoter Background: The promoter group exhibited strong confidence in Infosys's future prospects by opting out of the ₹18,000 crore share buyback. The board of directors consists of experienced professionals, and no adverse information regarding promoters or key management personnel has been identified.

Sector Headwinds: The IT/Technology sector, particularly in its interaction with the financial services industry in India, is poised for growth driven by RBI's transformative regulatory shifts. While new RBI outsourcing directions for NBFCs introduce stricter compliance and due diligence requirements, they also create substantial opportunities for Infosys in areas like AI, FinTech, and digital transformation, positioning the company favorably within a dynamic regulatory landscape.

Litigation: Infosys is involved in an arbitration dispute with Software Technology Parks of India, though the specific details and potential financial impact remain unclear. No high-risk legal proceedings such as NCLT insolvency cases (IBC CIRP), DRT cases, or other significant litigation against Infosys have been identified from the provided information.

Regulatory: The Reserve Bank of India (RBI) is implementing significant regulatory reforms by October 2025, focusing on enhancing financial resilience, fostering innovation through an enhanced GenAI Digital Sandbox, and imposing stricter IT outsourcing directions for NBFCs. These changes, while setting higher compliance standards for IT service providers to the financial sector, do not indicate any direct regulatory issues or penalties against Infosys Limited.

MCA Signals: Infosys has historically faced operational and reputational challenges in its role as a service provider for the government's MCA21 portal, including reported issues with its rollout and performance. However, there is no information indicating any MCA non-compliance (such as director disqualification, filing defaults, or pending charge satisfactions) by Infosys Limited as a corporate entity itself.

Overall Research Rating: A — Strong Proceed

Top Risks Identified: Operational and reputational risk stemming from past challenges in managing critical government IT projects (e.g., MCA21 portal).; Potential, though unquantified, impact from the ongoing arbitration dispute with Software Technology Parks of India.; Increased compliance requirements and potential costs for servicing financial sector clients due to evolving RBI outsourcing norms.
